Description

Wall-to-wall carpets tend to become unsightly as time passes, even if they are vacuumed daily. Traffic lanes of flattened nap form which the vacuum cleaner can do nothing about. A spray extraction cleaner is the answer for those who want to save the expense of a specialist. The Kärcher SE 3001 is a unit of this kind which is not only suitable for cleaning hard floors, such as stone, tiles and linoleum, but for normal vacuuming, too. Compared with conventional cleaning methods, the advantage of the Kärcher SE 3001 is that it always uses clean water and collects the dirty water separately (unlike a bucket in which clean and dirty water get mixed). In this way the dirt is effectively removed rather than being distributed. This unit can be equipped with a paper filter bag and used as a vacuum cleaner. If the freshwater tank is taken out, the Kärcher SE 3001 can be used as a wet and dry vacuum cleaner which is very convenient to handle and operate with its 5-stage filter system, flat pleated filter, filter shaker and filter condition indicator.
